Market backdrop: macro call SHORT BIAS with the cycle override on (Marks 6/7, Minsky 7/7, semis in a confirmed Kindleberger Stage 4). Broad relief rally today: S&P 500 +2.4%, Nasdaq-100 +3.5%, chips (SMH) +5.1%, VIX down to 19.9. Brent fell 6.3% and closed below its 200-day average, so energy came off the bubble watch. US inflation data (CPI) is due around 12–13 November.

Result: 1 BUY — REDUCED (50%), 19 WAIT, 5 PASS.

BUY

Ticker	Company	Verdict	Reason / trigger
DECK	Deckers Outdoor Corporation	BUY 50%	Closed $90.43 (€80.6) above $90.04 resistance on 1.5x volume, the trigger awaited since 5 Nov. Undervalued, big money buying (score 83), consumer tailwind. Half size: still below its 200-day (€88.1) and the cycle override is on. Stop $78.61 (€70.0), tracked target ~$103.85 (€92.5), ends 30 Nov. Half size is about €370.

PASS = the setup itself is flawed. WAIT = could work, but needs the stated trigger first.

Communication Services (3)

NEM	Newmont Corporation	WAIT	Little room to target (R:R 0.10), insider selling. Close above €113.4 ($127.26) on volume.

Financials (1)
